West End Association Plans For Outing; Contract For Waiting Room Is Received

At a meeting of the West End Improvement Association last night, the proposed contract arranged by the comfort and waiting station committee with Deeds and Lemon, owners of the Massie building, and the Portsmouth Street Railway and Light Company, and the owners of the various bus lines, was submitted. No action was taken on the contract, it being decided to hold it over until the next meeting in order to make some changes. Present arrangements provide for a lease of the room for a term of seven years instead of ten as was formerly proposed.

The Association is to pay for the repairs and improvements necessary to be made to the building, but the rent is to be paid by the Street Railway company, the managers of the refreshment stand to be established in the station, and the operators of the bus lines. The salary of the custodian is to be paid by the city, provisions for this expense having been made at a recent meeting of Council.

L. C. Pool was elected vice president.

ment, and preliminary plans are being made for an outing. John W. Carroll, L. C. Pool, O. H. Lewis, C. H. It will probably be held at some grove near Portsmouth, and on a Thursday afternoon. All members of the association, their families and their friends are invited. A report from the committee will be heard at the meeting next Monday night.

The nominating committee gave the names of the following five men to serve on the advisory board and they were elected by acclamation: Alan Jordan, Leo Sanner, Charles Dackler, John W. Carroll and O. H. Lewis. Each of these men will be appointed as chairman of standing committees.

All members are urged to be present at the meeting next Monday night. The suggested contract will be ready for approval at that time and several other matters of importance will be up for discussion.

Chautauqua Crowds Enjoying Unusually Fine Entertainments

(By Marcella Sommer)
This Evening's Program
Grand concert by Victor's Band, Signor Lacerenza, director.
Tomorrow Afternoon's Program
Joseph Baldi—Accordianist.
Clemens' Marionettes, offering "Jack and the Beanstalk."
Classical and popular selections in a variety of arrangements formed an interesting program when Victor's band of New York City came as a headliner to the Chautauqua platform this afternoon. Songs, speaking, comedy and descriptive numbers were featured.

The band was made up of eighteen pieces, including clarinets, cornets, trombones, snare drums, flutes and a bass drum. Signor Lacerenza, a noted musician on two continents, directed the artists.

The program met with enthusiastic response. It included the following numbers: "Welcome March," composed by Signor Lacerenza himself; "Orpheus," Offenbach; "Yes, We Have No Bananas," "Meow," Paderewski; "You Tell Her, I Stut-ter," "The Rosary," Nevins; "Chimes of Normandy," "You Know You're long to Somebody Else," "Derwenz," "Mass Tobin," "Seven or Eleven," "American Patrol," Meacham; and "America."

Signor Lacerenza was born in Italy. At the age of 10 he was leader of the Boys' Musical collection band near Naples. Soon he was discovered as a musical wizard by noted artists. He continued his study of music in Naples and later became master of an Italian military band. He has been director of the Victor band for fourteen years, during his winter tour he has played at royal command on state occasions in Italy.

The New Industrial Day
A real message was brought to the Chautauqua audience last night by Huber W. Hurt, who spoke on the timely subject, "The New Industrial Day." An industrial Utopia was pictured by this eloquent lecturer as being dependent on three basic principles: Thrift, not extortion; Confidence, not conflict; and lastly the "spirit of compromise."

Life cannot be solvent if we take out of it more than we put in," said Mr. Hurt. "Too many of our Americans try to support 100 horse power tastes on 10 horse power incomes."

"We've killed each other in our blood, but our problems have remained the same. I'm not a pessimist; but I'm not raising my children for cannon fodder. It's necessary. We can agree by compromise first."

Mr. Hurt said that there must be three different and distinct pillars under the temple of industrial peace: The rights of man, the moral integrity of mankind and co-operation good-will among mankind. "If America ever breaks, it will break at the point of wealth or intelligence, but at the point of efficiency."

"There seems to be a popular idea abroad that there must necessarily be a fundamental conflict between employer and employee," he continued.

"This is an insult to our intelligence. I would advise you first of all to eliminate this ugly, distorted, evil caste. As long as a man is honest, there is not one bit of difference before God."

The lecturers made an impassioned plea for the development, moral, mental and physical, of our boys and girls. "Our great production is womanhood and manhood," he said in conclusion. "We tend the crops of fruit and grain with tenderness and yet turn out our crops of delinquents and boys and let them grow wild. Be a constructive, stimulating element in the life of the child. Help to make him a good leader and help to build up a good and sound industrial life, filled with a great industrial peace."

Mr. Hurt is the author of five books among them "Building the Democracy," "A Study of College Standards in the United States" and the "Boy Scout Manual," which he used by scout masters throughout the United States. During the war he was chief of the educational division of the foreign press bureau of the spirit of America to the neutral and allied world.

A special feature of the evening was an assemblage of the local unit of Boy Scouts who marched into the Chautauqua tent and gave a salute in unison as a mark of respect for the composer of their music, Mr. Hurt.

Fine Program Tomorrow
Attention is called to a most unusual program tomorrow night, the first of a series of lectures by Iowa comes with his message entitled "The Clock Strikes Twelve." Optimistic by nature, Mr. Harding holds out great hope for improved condition in national affairs. He is especially interested in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence canal project and in the school system of the country.

Chautauqua lecturer he has created enthusiasm. "A man's name has been termed. During his term as war governor of Iowa, 1917-21, he brought national fame to himself through his efficient leadership. He was a man of service to his country while chief executive of his state. He has continued to be strong as withdrawal. In addition to being Chautauqua lecturer, Mr. Harding is a member of an insurance company and a member of the law firm of Oliver, Harding and Oliver, in Peoria, Illinois. Recently he invaded the field of journalism by writing views on civic, state and national affairs. He believes the fundamental success of the individual depends upon the government, the home and the school.

Can a Woman Love More Than One Man?

Young, slim, wistful, blonde and country-bred, she went to Paris with her blind sister. Kidnapped by a nobleman's servants, thrust into the pagan splendors of a midnight orgy, she is saved by a young aristocrat. Thus began one of the finest love stories of history. She met another man—a Giant of the People, Danton, the leader. Saved by the aristocrat, she saves the revolutionary. Protector and protected! Woman's chief instincts challenged! Danton, afterward Savior of France, becomes Henriette Girard's second lover. This love is the most adventurous ever told. The love of these two for Henriette, her love for them, is the golden cord Mr. Griffith has interwoven through "Orphans of the Storm."

Theodore Roosevelt, Warren Harding, Grover Cleveland, Judge Alton B. Parker—all the men who have been nominated for the presidency in the present generation have either been elected to public office or previously had been appointed to some position of importance.

Ford and Hoover Boom Similar
There is much similarity between the boom for Henry Ford and for the movement that swept the country in 1920 for Herbert Hoover, but even Mr. Hoover had served in a public capacity as United States food administrator and while he had no connection with either of the political parties there was no doubt of his administrative ability when entrusted with a public office.

Henry Ford has never been elected to any office of public trust in America. He has several assets politically speaking, but he has also many liabilities.

Here are his strong points. He has had a romantic career in business and has done almost the impossible in the financing of his own business. The farmers of the country are aching for some Moses to lead them out of their wilderness and the name of Ford catches their imagination.

Here are Henry Ford's political liabilities.

The American Legion would probably never support a man for the presidency whose son had been accused of draft evasion in the world war. If Henry Ford should become a candidate for the presidency, it is almost certain that one or the other of his opponents of the political world opposing him would revive the controversy over Edsel Ford.

Henry Ford boasts of his bigotry on religion. His campaign against the Jews is in conformity with one of his principles of the Ku Klux Klan. And whether the Klan endorsed him or not, it seems almost certain that he would be given the label of the Klan by political opponents. Under such circumstances large numbers of Catholics would be antagonized and would be inclined to oppose any man who was even slightly favored by the Klan.

There would be a good deal of ridicule in a Ford campaign, when for example, in the liberal suit he conducted against the Chicago Tribune an attorney asked Mr. Ford who Benedict Arnold was he replied, "an English novelist." Opposing campaign speakers would surely make use of this to show Ford's limited knowledge of American history.

If the truth were known, Henry Ford is not anxious to get into the political line light. It is not ambitious for public office. Rather is he the victim of those who are pushing forward. This is usually the case when a prominent figure's personality can be capitalized. Mr. Ford himself is well aware of the limitations of his career. For one thing, he would have to give up all active connection with the Ford Motor company and he would have to give up about his business than he does about politics anyhow. When he ran for United States senator in Michigan there were many people who believed that he would not serve out his term if he were elected. The popular belief was that he was put into the race by those who were anxious to overthrow the Republican machinery in Michigan.

Would Ford be amenable to the wishes of the Democratic party's leaders? This all leads to the question of his uncertain political affiliations and his indifference to party tradition and principle. It takes two thirds to nominate a President and a third to elect him. There always is enough delegates to constitute a one-third vote.

Certainly there is no chance for Henry Ford in the Republican convention as the party is more or less committed to the renomination of President Harding.

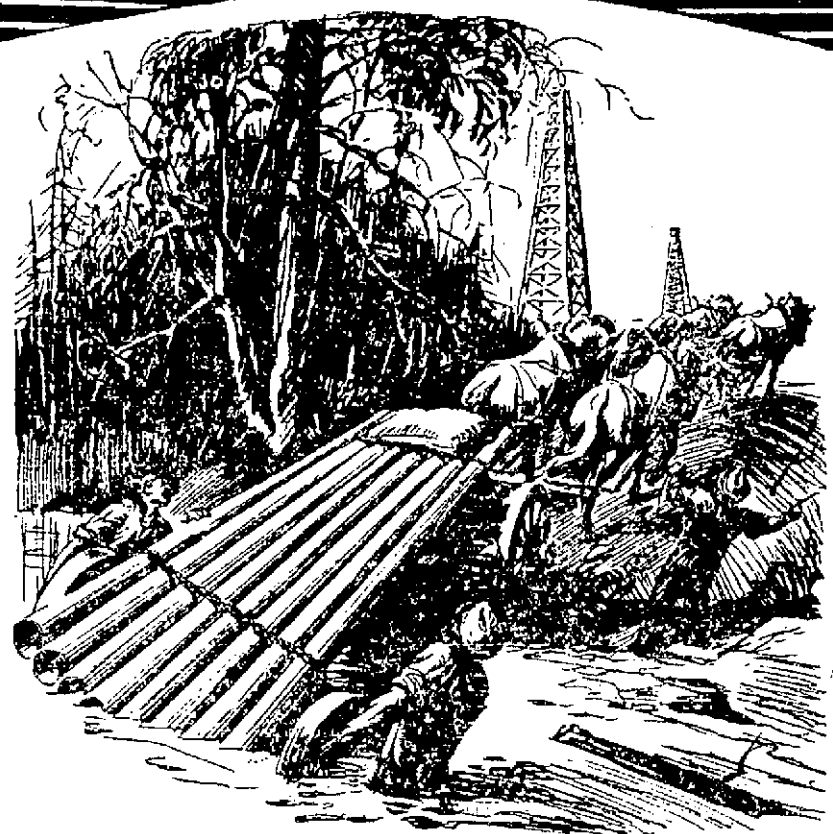

Party Leaders Guepel Booms for Any Outsider

What are the chances, therefore, for Henry Ford's nomination on a third party ticket? Almost anybody with money can start a third party movement in America. Independent voters of the United States can be organized with sufficient funds and party workers. But a third party must derive its initial strength from political workers who are familiar with the methods of getting delegates in the states, counties and cities. The third party movement of 1912 was really a revolt in the Republican party itself. In 1920, the people wanted Hoover but the politicians in both parties did not listen. There is as yet no method by which the national organization can be made to recognize an outsider as they do not wish to do so.

If Henry Ford should be nominated by a third party convention, he would draw most of his strength from the agricultural states. This would hurt the Republican party more than it would the Democratic party. In fact, in a three cornered contest, almost anything might happen, but it is inconceivable that one or the other of the two old parties would not poll the largest number of electoral votes. The third party might finish second but never first.

The danger recognized by all practical politicians, however, is that if Henry Ford should be nominated on a third party ticket and make an active campaign he might carry enough states to prevent the other two candidates from getting a majority in the electoral college. This would throw the election of a president and a vice president into the hands of a few states and a situation that is always adopted by great excitement and confusion. The election would then be by state delegations in congress and a Republican or Democrat would be elected on a third party man.

Henry Ford can never be elected president of the United States because he cannot poll enough electoral votes but he possesses the power and the money to make trouble for the two parties—and they are beginning to recognize it. Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman from New York State, and at one time chairman of the Republican national committee, and secretary to President Taft, has already issued a blast against Ford. It would be surprising if any of the leading Democratic political leaders did not say so. This would make common cause against Ford and it is all because none of them believe he has the capacity to hold an elective office, such as that of the presidency. He would have fared better if he had been elected to the United States senate or if he had run for governor of Michigan and demonstrated his ability to conduct a public office as well as he can manage a private business.

Terminal System Boosted By Cincinnatians

CINCINNATI, OHIO, July 10.—At a meeting of prominent Cincinnatians here today the first steps toward a new terminal system for Cincinnati were taken. The Cincinnati Terminal Development Company was organized by 15 of the city's leading financial men who subscribed for the stock of $250,000.

The amount of stock subscribed, $250,000, is merely preliminary and nominal, as the plans for the terminal system carry an expenditure of many millions of dollars.

As now drawn, the plans provide for a system of warehouses with the freight terminals, and also a great central passenger station, if the railroads can be brought together on that point.

The proposed site of the new terminal and all that would go with it would include practically the entire river front.

Install Officers

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO, July 10.—President Fred H. A. Hahn, Toledo, and other officers recently elected by vote of cantons, were installed today at the opening session of the convention of the Department Council of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Chapter Herbert A. Hughes, of Zanesville, conducted the installation.

Other officers include W. L. Ryan, Dayton, Vice President; Fred P. Hummel, Toledo, Secretary; and Frank Garrett, Dayton, Treasurer. Decorations of civility conferred by the Council were awarded to 14 Patriarchs Militant and to 12 women members of the Rebekah Lodges. The meeting was devoted largely to arrangements for the general Military Council and sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows of the World, which will be held at Cincinnati, commencing September 17.

Because of increasing difficulty in finding places for entertainment of the department and grand encampment of the order, a committee was named to consider the choice of a permanent meeting place for the order.

Mill Overhauled

The Jackson Milling company property purchased last spring by A. L. Mingo has been thoroughly overhauled and put in first class shape to make the very best of flour and all other products.

The mill is known as the "Brick Mill" and has been a business establishment of Jackson for many years. The mill was formerly owned by H. H. Harshbarger who sold the entire plant and equipment to Mr. Mingo last March. Mr. Mingo now has the mill in operation and is producing a very high grade of flour.

Fire Destroys

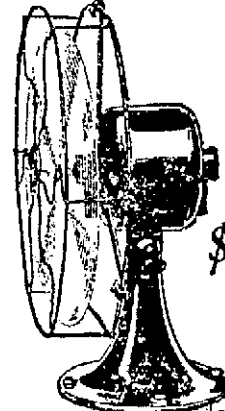

Shoe Factories

GEORGETOWN, MASS., July 10.—In less than an hour last night fire destroyed the chief business block of this town, wiping out three shoe factories and a number of business concerns at a loss estimated at more than $200,000. About 300 persons were thrown out of employment. The three shoe factories were owned by Beavercase and Morris, the Robinson Shoe Company and Harryman Bros.

Real Fisherman

Earl Drennan who has been on a week's vacation visiting his father, Pat Drennan, in Virginia, has returned home and has resumed his work in the Beavercase shoe plant. Earl enjoyed some fine fishing and frog hunting while away. He says he caught some green bass that weighed from three to five pounds and the frogs were as large as water buckets. This family remained at the home of his father for a week or two longer.

Lightning Causes Damage In Jackson County

Lightning has been playing havoc with more property in Jackson county in the past few days. About a week ago the Solon Williams property known as the old Simms home at Centre Point, was struck and burned completely.

The latter part of last week the Stephens school house in Hamilton township was struck but not greatly damaged. This is a new building erected last year to take the place of a building burned following a meeting of same sort there.

The home occupied by the widow of the late "Squire" Lewis near Jisco, was damaged slightly two or three days ago by a slight blaze which caught in the roof of the home but was extinguished before much damage resulted.

The Clayton Jones residence near Clay, was struck by lightning with very slight damage.—Jackson Sun.

More than five hundred Red Men from Portsmouth, Waverly, Wakefield, Pikeston, Ironton, Circleville, Akron, Canton, Wamsley, Beaver, Vanceburg and Huntington, their wives and children gathered at the Lucasville fair grounds Sunday to enjoy the outing held under the auspices of Seneca and Wakefield tribes. The event proved one of the most successful which the two tribes have sponsored in many years.

Features of the day were the basket lunch at noon, the address delivered in the afternoon by Grant Senior Sagamore Miller of Circleville, and the athletic stunts and contests in which members of all Red Men tribes and Pocahontas degrees and children participated.

The boys' foot race was won by Challen Dougherty, with Gale Knost of Portsmouth a close second.

Miss C. Green of Wakefield won the fifty yard dash for girls. Juanita Carr of Portsmouth was second.

John Ray of Wakefield won the men's foot race and L. F. Dougherty of Portsmouth was second.

The women's race was won by Mrs. L. F. Dougherty of Portsmouth. Mrs. J. J. Alley of Wakefield was second.

Mrs. Anna Altenberg and Charles Reeg won from Marie Reeg and L. Newman in the horseshoe pitching contest.

John Newman won the men's foot race of one hundred yards and John Reeg was first and Miss Margaret Reeg second in the women's ball throwing contest.

Marie Reeg was first and Mary Carr second in the potato race.

Arthur Held and John Reeg won the honors in the "gassing" contest.

W. C. Ward of Wakefield was voted as the "finest man on the grounds."

The little folks present at the outing were given a pleasant surprise when Oscar Tillitt appeared with three hundred toy balloons, which he distributed among them.

Death Penalty Ordered For Woman By Jurors

CHICAGO, July 10.—For the first time in the history of Cook County, a jury today meted out the death penalty to a white woman, when Mrs. Sabella Nitti Crandelle and her second husband, Peter Crandelle, were found guilty of the murder of Frank Nitti, Mrs. Crandelle's first husband, and death was decided on for both.

The jury returned its verdict, after less than two hour's deliberation. The woman and her husband were convicted largely through the testimony of Charles Nitti, sixteen-year-old son of the woman.

Mrs. Crandelle, who cannot understand English, apparently did not understand the verdict and remained unmoved. Crandelle understood, but gave no evidence of emotion.

Attorneys made a motion for a new trial, which was set for hearing Saturday.

Nitti, a truck farmer living near Stickney, disappeared from his farm last July, and his body was found in May in a catch basin near Stickney. In the meantime, his widow and Crandelle, who had been a farm hand on Nitti's farm, were married. The state contends that Nitti was beaten to death with a hammer and his body thrown into the catch basin by Crandelle and Mrs. Nitti. Charles Nitti, a son of the dead man, was also a defendant in the case, but later was released and testified for the state against his mother and stepfather.

Buzzi's friends are planning to ask Governor Smith for a commutation of sentence.

Check Perspiration This New Way

Wherever you go, women are talking about the new way to get rid of the annoyance, inconvenience and embarrassment caused by under-arm perspiration. They have found that by the simple application of a "blanc" snow white vanishing cream called Nul, the discovery of a famous Chicago laboratory, it is now possible to always have sweet, dry underarms, entirely free from the slightest trace of moisture or odor.

Nul is absolutely pure and is guaranteed to be harmless to both skin and clothing. As a matter of fact, it leaves the most sensitive skin, soft, cool, smooth and white no matter how often it is used.

It destroys every trace of perspiration, moisture and odor and leaves the underarms sweet, clean and dry. It dries so quickly you can use it over and over again in a moment's time if necessary. No after treatment is necessary because Nul contains its own soothing cream and deodorant.

You can get Nul at any drug store. Give notice of your order and a few days later you will have it. If you want to put an end to all perspiration troubles, the famous deodorant gives you Nul. Advertisement.

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—To settle an argument, will you please tell me if William Jennings Bryan was ejected from a University for saying that human beings sprang from monkeys. I say he was, and my friend says he said that we did not spring from the monkey. I think I read an article about this in The Times about two months ago. TIMES READER.

You are wrong. William Jennings Bryan is very much opposed to evolution, and the theory that human beings sprang from the monkey. He has been fighting and lecturing against this freak idea for several years.

Dear Dolly—I am going to be married in September and I would like for you to tell me what I should wear. I am five feet, nine inches tall and have brown eyes and dark complexion. Do you think I am pretty? LILLIAN.

White is the customary wedding attire, but what you wear should depend upon what you can afford and what kind of a wedding you are going to have. If a quiet home or church affair, a suit or one piece dress would be appropriate. If you will write me again giving more details, I will be glad to give you the desired information. If your intended husband thinks you are pretty, it doesn't matter what I think.

Fullerton, Ky.—Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me where to address a letter to get protection from the government. WEAKLING WIDOW.

I might be able to tell you if I knew what kind of protection you wanted. Why don't you appeal to the town marshal, or whatever kind of an officer you have in your little village. You might write to the governor at Frankfort, Ky., or to the president at Washington, D. C.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your book-let in my letter box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMAN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

THE PUFFIES

What did those two Puffies do but float right away through the air and hang limply over a tree.

THE Twins saw many queer folk in Rainbow Land, but nothing queerer than the Puffies. They were the nice little people who lived in Puffy Town in Rainbow Land.

"This is Nancy and this is Nick," said Mister Sky Bow, introducing them to the Twins.

But when Nick went to shake hands with one of them and Nancy went to shake hands with another, what did those two Puffies do but float right away through the air and hang limply over a tree.

"Oh, we're ever so sorry," they called. "But you see we have nothing to hold us down. We never can tell one minute where we'll be the next."

"Well, I declare," said Nick. "It must be dreadful to be a Puffy!"

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE SEA

At first the great shell clung to the ground so tight that Jack could hardly budge it. Then, after he had lifted it up a few inches, the water surged underneath it and it rose very easily. And, much to Jack's surprise, a fat, funny fellow jumped out from beneath the shell.

BY ELTON

"Hurray!" shouted the little watermite. "I'm free again after being locked away for ages and ages." And then he explained to Jack that the great shell had come slipping through the water a thousand years ago and caught him under it. "And you let me out," he continued.

BY ELTON

Jack told the watermite that he was glad he had set him free, and then he asked him if he'd show him the way around the bottom of the sea. "Follow me," shouted the watermite, "and in return for your kindness I will show you all the sights that there are down here." (Continued.)

Beaver Wins A Close Game

BEAVER, July 10.—In a fast and hotly contested battle Sunday, Beaver beat the Tri-Town Tigers 2-1 at Gillespieville. It was a pitcher's battle between VanFossan and Marks. VanFossan kept the hits off him well scattered, while the Beaver bats hit at more opportune times.
The Tri-Town Tigers got their lone tally in the first inning on one hit and two errors. The Beaver batters earned both their runs. The main feature of the game was Stephenson's base running in which he scored in the sixth from first on a single by H. Pfeiffer.
Beaver will look up next Sunday, July 15th, with the fast McDermott when on Beaver's diamond and a good game is anticipated.

Balloonists

will be kept for some trace of the body of Lieutenant Null, who it is believed is undoubtedly a victim of the same fate that overtook Lieutenant Roth, death by drowning.
Hunt For Other Body
PORT STANLEY, ONT., July 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Fishermen of Port Stanley—more than a score of them—were out on Lake Erie again early today, gathering their catches—and scanning the rippling surface of the water for Lieutenant N. B. Null, missing aviator, and his body. Organized search for Lieutenant Null, companion in the naval balloon A-6095 of Lieutenant L. J. Roth, whose body was found in the balloon basket yesterday, has virtually been abandoned. But it was a fisherman who found the body of Lieutenant Roth hanging from the basket into the water, and the small craft was slowly patrolling the fishing grounds, hopeful of writing the final chapter to the story that began at Indianapolis July 4, when the A-6095, with other balloons, started in the national elimination race.
Some of those who studied fragments of the water-soaked log of the A-6095, found in the rigging of the gas bag when it was picked up Saturday, pretend to see in the few decipherable entries an heroic epic of sea and air.
Poking out the log as best they can, these lake men believe they can construct, with accuracy the flight, the storm, the wrecking of the balloon and the death of the two naval officers.
Lieutenant Null leaped overboard as the storm tossed lake, giving out as human ballast in an effort to save the life of Lieutenant Roth, the pilot, according to the story they see in the log.
Thinking the flight they believe a Thursday night or Friday morning drove the big bag perilously close to the waters of the lake. The men leaped overboard all at once. The bag rose, but caught in the fury of the storm, was again pulled down and everything remaining that could be thrown overboard was removed, but the danger did not pass. Then Lieutenant Null, true to traditions of the American navy, leaped from the basket and sank to the bottom, believing that the balloon, loaded with his weight, would rise and give both a fighting chance for his rescue.
Lieutenant Roth began hacking at the log, and chopping at the log, they held the basket to the log. His only hope of safety lay in getting the basket clear from the log, but he was buffeted by a wind of gale proportions, was dragging it through the water.
He succeeded, but was probably so exhausted by his exertions that he was unable to take advantage of the measure of safety provided by the log. He was alone until he was downed. An incredible pencil was used in writing on the log, and the words in it are as clear as a purple blur. The story of the tragedy as placed here, is based on the small log in which the bag and basket were found, the weather, the direction of the wind and the few decipherable words in the log.

Lewis Staged Knife Play In West End

Police stated Tuesday that it was not the first time Mildred Lewis had been in trouble. Several months ago she staged a knife play near Front and Market streets and held a crowd at bay while he made his way to the ferryboat and crossed into Kentucky. He was well known in the West End, where he spent considerable of his time. He was regarded as a dangerous man and police say he was always boasted that he was never unarmed. He was seen three or four times in the West End yesterday with the butt of his revolver peeping out of his left trouser pocket.
"After I learned this I am surprised that no one called the police. If they had we would have placed Lewis under arrest and Philipott would have been living today," Patrolman Thomas Haley said Tuesday.

Bootleggers

go. You can buy all the whiskey you want in Miami at $5 a quart."
Havana and Nassau were described as but two of the ports that were flooding the United States with liquor, some of it from American distilleries.
"Upon the payment of the proper amount of graft," the writer said, "you can clear out of a port with thousands of cases of whiskey billed to a legitimate point, unload it on the American coast, sail into the afore-said legitimate port with an empty ship and a landing certificate showing that you arrived there with the very whiskey you smuggled into the United States."
"In the course of our participation in this business on the Atlantic coast," the writer continued, "Terry and I bought booze in Havana, brought it through the customs at Key West and sent it to friends in Chicago through the United States mails. We bought other booze in Nassau and landed it in Miami at the municipal pier."
"And when we were ready to return to Chicago," the article declared, "we left the Florida coast in a bootlegger's motor boat and boarded a rum schooner, loaded with 2,000 cases of Scotch whiskey, rode this ship to the New Jersey coast, bought ten cases from the captain and landed it along with 200 other cases on the Jersey coast, trucked it to Newark, packed it into trunks and shipped it to Chicago and sold it to Terry's customers. Nobody interfered with us or questioned us; it was all in the day's work."
The Bahamas, poverty stricken before prohibition and with revenues from all sources of less than half a million dollars, realized $2,798,000 in 1922 in duties from liquor shipped into the United States, the article said.
"The rum-runners who do this business," the writer said, "are sore because London and Glasgow are sending booze to America, 30,000 to 40,000 cases at a time, in bigger rum ships than the Bahamas ever dreamed of before; and they have made some strange dreams come true in the Bahamas."
While prohibition officials are seizing sealed liquor brought into their hands by legitimate ocean-going vessels, the article said, there are but two small cutters to guard the 1,200 miles of Florida coast.
Once a revenue cutter and a rum-runner were tied up nose to nose, at Miami, said the article, the rum-runner laden with 40,000 cases from Nassau for Miami.

Period of Understanding
WRANGELL, ALASKA, July 10.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding, landing here yesterday was greeted by thousands of people of Wrangell and Petersburg, and in an address delivered from the stern of the frame courthouse declared he came to Alaska "as an apostle of understanding" and wanted his administration to go down in history as "a period of understanding."
"That is what the world and the nation most need," the President declared. The President was welcomed to Wrangell by the Rev. Mr. Evers, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, who introduced him to the cheering crowd. After the Chief Executive had concluded his address, Secretary of the Interior Work, Secretary of Labor Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Hoover spoke briefly.
The party landed here this morning to find the town, once the chief trading station of the United States Bay Company, deserted with flags and flooded with sunshine of a perfect summer day. Here the party saw its first town poles. The President and Mrs. Harding were presented with a huge basket of strawberries, nearly twice the size of the berries they have been accustomed to in Washington, and a bouquet of manna.

PIKETON, July 10 — The rural mail carriers, postmasters and postal employes of Pike, Scioto and adjoining counties enjoyed a splendid picnic at the Piketon Fair grounds Sunday, about two hundred people being present at the gathering.

The program for the day was arranged by the District Organizer G. R. Milam who is a rural carrier from the Lucasville office. The morning hours were spent in getting acquainted and at noon a pot luck or picnic dinner was served all of the affiliates present having been invited by baskets of food on the previous occasion. After the dinner there repaired to the community hall on the fair grounds where the program was given. The program opened with a song by the crowd, Mrs. O. H. Nutt of Beaver presiding at the piano. The welcome address was delivered by Meek Penna a postal employe from Olway. The next number on the program was the presentation of a certificate to the Lucasville B. Shermode. This was followed by a Skit which was given by the group entitled "A Rural Mail Carrier's Experience." An address which was very beneficial to the Rural carriers was then given by George R. Irvin of "Wilmington. Mr. Irvin is a rural carrier and a member of the State Executive Committee. His address was, "Why We Should Have a Carriers' Union." A full page of pictures were given by rural carrier Isaac Hill of Orient, Ohio. Mr. Hill is the treasurer of the State Rural Carriers Association. The principal address of the afternoon was given by Mr. A. P. Laug, of Pleasantville, Ohio. President of the Ohio and National Rural Carriers' Association.

thralfurn's address was full of instructive thought for the carriers and postmasters and much benefit was derived from his speech by them. Resolutions of thanks were extended to Carter James Price who served chicken sandwiches and other delicious refreshments on the grounds, to
S. Daily, Secretary of the Pike County Agricultural Association for his assistance in placing the Fair Grounds at the disposal of the association, to the officers of the association and speakers of the day and to rural carriers, Floyd Dixon and Harvey Custer for their efforts which added greatly to the success of the picnic. The picnic was a success from every standpoint and the association hopes to have a bigger and better time at their picnic next year.

Postmaster W. A. Cooper of Pikeston was awarded a prize for being the biggest eater at the picnic as the skeletons of a half dozen Plymouth Rock chickens which lay in front of a plate at the end of the dinner were mute evidence of Cooper's ability as a trencherman.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Michael Pendean, husband of Jenny, disappears and Robert Redmayne, uncle to Jenny, is suspected of murder. Mark Brendon, criminal investigator, is in charge of the case. Robert returns at large.

Jenny goes to live with her uncle, Bendigo Redmayne. Robert visits Bendigo's neighborhood and sends for his brother to meet him in a nearby cave. Giuseppe Doria takes his master to the meeting place and leaves the two brothers together.

When Doria calls on Bendigo he finds him very stressing and evidence of a terrible struggle in the cave.

Albert marries Doria and they go to live in Italy, where Jenny's uncle, Albert Redmayne, lives. When Peter Gams, famous American detective, renew investigations.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"None whatever. Doria is amazingly handsome and attractive. I type a woman generally worships. I grant that Italo-English marriages are not remarkable for their success; but—well, not being Jenny's husband is worshipping me. He has everything to lose by being good, everything to lose by behaving badly. Jenny is a proud girl. I hope to see much of her, though it appears that their hope will be in Turin."

"He has abandoned his ambitions to recover the family estates and title and so forth? Brendon told me all about that."

"Entirely. Besides it seems that one of your countrymen has secured

"the castle at Dolceacqua and bought the title too. Giuseppe was very entertaining on the subject. But I'm afraid he loves Idleness."

Before luncheon Mark Brendon returned from the hills with his guide. They had seen nothing of Robert Redmayne and appeared to be rather weary of one another's company.

"You must impart your wisdom and gay spirit to Signor Marco," said Giuseppe to Mr. Gams, when Brendon was out of earshot with Jenny. "He is a very dull dog and does not even listen when I talk to him. I suppose, He will never find out anything. Will you, I wonder? Have you any ideas? A new broom sweeps clean, as you say."

"A very cute notion," declared Peter. "We'll rope you in, Giuseppe. Between you and me and the post, our friend Brendon is known to have been a very clever fellow. I'll clean this up and, he, together, can't clean this up, then we're not the men I take us for."

Dorin laughed.

It was not until after the midday meal that Gams and Mark were able to get speech together. Then, promising to return in time, Viraglio took the two men sauntered beside Canon and exchanged experiences. The interview proved painful to the younger, for he found that Peter's doubts were cleared in certain directions.

"Do you begin to see any lighter?" asked Mark.

"Not much upon the main problem. A minor feature has cleared, however. I know the rock you split upon, my son. You were in love with Jenny Pendeau from the moment you knew that she was a widow. And you're in love with Jenny Doria now. And to be in love with one of the principals in a case, is to handicap yourself out of the hunt, as far as that case is concerned."

"We know some things without proof and are proud to take them on trust," answered Pendeau. "Hare, I not seen Mrs. Doria under affliction and she murmured unexpressably difficult. She buried her own crush in a coffin."

"And in nine months was married to another man."

"'She is young and her husband is for yourself what her husband Who can tell what measures he is to win her?'"

"Well, I do not ask much since I have picked up this thing Albert's sack, there's one going which I insist. If you are going take Jenny into your confidence assume that she has no wish or shall be more than to see justice done and the mystery cleared, then I'll work with you, Mark."

"You wrong her, but that does matter, I suppose. What does it matter is that you wrong me," said Bolder, with fierce eyes fixed upon the girl. "I've never thought of dreamed of unfaith in her or of body else. I'm a detective first and always over this business and I have some credit in my professional profession."

"Good. Remember that, what"

"Happen. And keep your temper a deal more you depend upon it you can't imagine."

"A moment's reflection will su-convince you that neither she Dorcia."

"Wait, wait! I'm only saying we must not allow character, far-or real, to dam any channel of investigation. Have you asked y-self why Lordling Redmayne's is missing?"

"— and would not see

"this business at 'Crow's Nest.'"
"How can I forget what I don't know? Why do you say he only came into it at 'Crow's Nest'? He may have come into it at Fogginton. Perhaps he and not Robert Redmayne, or any other, cut Michael Penden's throat?"
"Impossible. Consider. Is not Michael's widow Doria's wife?"
"What, then? I'm not saying she knew he was the murderer."
"Another thing: Doria was the servant of Bendigo Redmayne at the time."
"And how do you know even so much?"
"Brendon showed impatience.
"My dear Ganns, that's common knowledge."
"Common nothing! You can't swear he was the servant of Bendigo Redmayne on the day that the murder was committed. To prove as much would entail an amount of solid research that might surprise you. Of this crowd, only Doria for certain knows when he joined up at 'Crow's Nest.' His wife may, or may not, know. I'm quite prepared to take Gussie's word for the date."
"That's why you wanted Bendigo Redmayne's log then?"

BEFORE LYN'CHEON MARK
GUIDE.

"One of the reasons certainly."
Two days later the book lover and Peter were taking a steamer for Varenna, whence they would entrain for Milan and so return to England.
On the steamer stood Virginia Dugli. He was come across the water to take leave of Mr. Redmayne and bid him as for the Varenna. The three men departed presently, leaving Mark, Jenny and her husband together. At Varenna Virgilio also took his leave. He was not content with embracing Albert but clasped Mr. Gams also in a affectionate farewell.

Council Passes Semi-Annual Appropriation Ordinance

Passage of the semi-annual appropriation ordinance providing $183,055.43 for the operating expenses of the city for the next six months, a report by Mayor William N. Gableman to the City Council last night, was expected to operate within the income and would show a cash balance at the end of the year and passing of considerable legislation featured the meeting of City Council held last night. A few minutes after word was received of the death of the Mayor's mother, Council adjourned to meet Thursday July 12, when more legislation will be considered and the proposed street and alley improvements, sewer construction and water main extension, will not be held up.

Miss Emma Cramer, of the finance committee to presenting the semi-annual budget ordinance remarked that she had discussed the city's finances with a state examiner and had obtained from him statements showing the city is to be congratulated on its financial condition. According to Miss Cramer, the examiner stated that the city was in excellent financial condition and that the city's tax rate is no higher than that of other cities of the same size. She also said that he gave immediate approval of the new position of superintendent of assessments stating that it was the only logical thing to do. Applause from Council members greeted her report.

In introducing the ordinance Miss Cramer explained that while there were some increases in some departments there were decreases in others.

How It Is Divided

The total of more than $183,000 is to be divided among the different funds as follows:

General	$114,825.50
Safety	50,100.00
Health	1,000.00
Service	111,911.00
Library	3,870.00
Total	$183,055.43

Relative to the city's finances Mayor Gableman submitted the following communication which was ordered received and filed:

July 9th, 1923.
Mr. President and Members of Council, City—
The actual operating expenses of the City of Portsmouth for the six months period: January 1st to July 1st, 1923, totaled $102,847.44, an average of $17,141.24 per month. Certificates of indebtedness or short time notes in the sum of $25,000 were discharged and $1,141.54 interest charges paid, making the total disbursements $128,978.98. The receipts into the City Treasury during this period from all sources with the January 1st balance added, total $147,105.39.

The balance in the operating funds July 1st was therefore $18,264.41. There are certificates of indebtedness outstanding against this balance in the sum of $15,000 which makes a net cash balance $3,264.41.

The operating expenses for the last half of 1923 computed upon very liberal estimates will not exceed $120,000, which amount is approximately $20,000 more than was expended during the first six months of this year.

Estimating the August taxes to be the same as the income from taxes the first half $87,002.84 with our net balance $3,264.41 added, $90,267.25 is actually available at this time for the last half.

Our receipts into these funds aside from taxes total approximately $45,000 during the first six months. Estimating such receipts at $30,000 for the last half or $15,000 less than the first half will take care of this budget.

It is my opinion at this time that the city will operate within its income during 1923, discharge all floating indebtedness and close the year with cash balances in the various operating funds.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM GABLEMAN,
Mayor.

All ordinances received the approval of every member of Council and it took but a short time to present and pass the measures. The ordinance provided for the issuance of notes in the sum of $33,319.33 and $27,000 to pay the costs of street and alley improvements; another provided for the expenditure of $10,000 to be used for the purchase of new fire hydrants and extension of the fire alarm system for the fire department; increasing the salary of the clerk to the city solicitor from $900 to $900; creating the position of cus-odian at a West End comfort station and fixing the salary at $720 per year; providing for the expenditure of $3,500 for a new truck for the water works department; accepting plat of R. H. Correll, Anna E. Correll and E. J. Daehler addition providing for the expenditure of $100,000 for the extension of the water works system.

Another ordinance was passed regulating the cost of market stands. A license for a year is to cost $25 and one for the last half of the year only $15. One night stands are to be charged as follows, four foot stand 25 cents; over four feet and up to eight feet 50 cents per night.

An ordinance was also passed authorizing the Director of Service to test out the validity of the city's building code. This action follows the action of the Court of Appeals who sustained the building code in the A. S. Winkel case. Mr. Winkel is expected to take the case higher and the ordinance provides a way for the city to carry on its fight for the building code.

Legislation was also ordered in for the accepting of the C. C. Horr and Cecil S. Miller plats of new addition.

A special committee, appointed some time ago to look into the railroad crossing situation, made the following report:

July 9th, 1923.
Mr. President and Members of Council, City—

We, the undersigned committee appointed by this Council to confer with the officials of the Norfolk and Western Ry. relative to matters involving both the blocking and repair of railroad crossings and the congested traffic conditions in the vicinity of the N. & W. shops and yards on the public highways caused by the parking of automobiles thereon by employees of the N. & W. beg to report as follows:

The entire committee conferred with D. F. Peters and H. T. Reinicker, Supt. and Asst. Supt., respectively of the N. & W. Ry. at their offices in East Portsmouth on last Thursday morning, July 5th.

Concerning the blocking of crossings caused by long freight trains passing through the city, we were assured by these officials that they were doing everything in their power at all times to remedy this situation, but under existing conditions it is next to impossible to make any improvements as this condition will become more critical as the business of the railway increases and the city grows larger.

The solution of this problem in our opinion can be solved only by the construction of overhead crossings at several points along the right-of-way. This is the opinion of the Ry. Officials with whom we conferred.

We therefore recommend that the Mayor be instructed to take up this matter by letter with the officials of the N. & W. Ry., Baltimore and the P. & O. Ry. Co. in order to get an expression upon this subject. This is to be followed by the preparation of plans, estimates, etc., by the Engineering Departments of these Corporations in conjunction with the Engineering Department of the City.

The maintenance of crossings in the City is in charge of Asst. Supt. Reinicker who informed us that the N. & W. Ry. is spending upwards of $300,000 per month for this purpose and that his Department will make repairs to any particular crossing. In this matter it must be kept in mind that the R. & O. Ry. has a responsibility also and the poor condition of railway crossings at various times might be charged to this Corporation.

We were assured that the Officials of the N. & W. will give the matter

Dry Officials Decide Extensive Use Of Padlock Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 9.—A new use of padlock provision of the Federal prohibition act, which permits the locking up for a period not exceeding a year of premises upon which the manufacture or sale of liquor is declared to be a nuisance, was urged today by Federal prohibition officers from all over the state, meeting with Federal Prohibition Director J. E. Russell.

Closer co-operation of the Federal enforcement officers with Courts, Mayors, Sheriffs and police, was another idea advanced for better enforcement conditions in the state. Declaring that "all violators look alike to us," Director Russell said that "no man is so rich or so strong politically that he can violate the prohibition law and escape arrest and prosecution."

There has been a vast improvement in prohibition enforcement since he took charge 22 months ago, Mr. Russell said, adding:

"Of course, some liquor, or what is supposed to be liquor, is being sold in Ohio, but none is being sold openly over the bars."

Million Paid In Fines

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 10.—More than a million dollars in fines was paid to the state by violators of the Federal prohibition enforcement act during the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1923, according to a statement of Joseph T. Tracy, State Auditor, made public here today.

Hamilton County leads with the amount collected by the state since the law became effective, the total being $247,921.54, with an additional sum distributed in the county. Cuyahoga County is next, with $228,146.31. Morrow County is lowest, with $25.

A petition from Lawson property owners that they be allowed to make sanitary taps into the big sewer was refused by the Lawson Run sewer is for storm waters only, according to a ruling of the State Department of Health.

Search Spectators For Guns At Trial

YONKEROY, Ohio, July 10.—Charged with the shooting of J. W. Swanner and Edward Reynolds, Logan County, West Virginia, James E. Miller went on trial here today.

Former Attorney-General of Ohio Timothy S. Hogan is assisting counsel for the state, and Miller's attorneys include Congressman I. M. Foster of Athens.

At the morning session 36 veniremen were examined out of a panel of 38 and eight temporarily seated. With nine prospective jurors called out of an exhausted venire of 36 men, Judge A. P. Miller, of Meigs County, presiding in the trial of Miller, late today ordered a special venire of 75 to be summoned for to-morrow morning.

Swanner and Reynolds, it is claimed, came here to offer Miller immunity from prosecution if he would return to West Virginia to testify at the armed march trials. Miller, it is said, thought the men were here to kidnap him and opened fire on them when they appeared at his home.

Hundreds of people, many of them from West Virginia, attended the opening session of the trial today. Deputy Sheriffs stationed at the doors of the courthouse searched all those who entered for firearms.

Most of the veniremen examined today declared themselves to be against capital punishment.

Here Is A Tale of an Inexperienced Driver And A Runaway Ford Truck

"Sure, I can drive it allright," said Glenn Carter, 18, stockroom employee of the Anderson Bros. Co., as he climbed up the firm's delivery truck yesterday afternoon, after the driver, Grant Orin, had gotten out at the corner of Third and Chillicothe streets, in a hurry to get to the store.

A few minutes later the truck, in Young Carter's command, rolled over the curb onto the sidewalk and knocked over the vestibule leading to the Third-street entrance of the Anderson store, and did not stop until it had reached the alley below the Phil Jacob's Auto Supply Company.

Fortunately Carter was uninjured and the truck, aside from a smashed headlight and a bent front fender, was not damaged.

There were several cars parked about on Third street when Mr. Orin drove up and he stopped the machine near Chillicothe street. Carter had asked him if he could drive it down to the entrance and Orin asked the lad if he knew how.

"Sure, I can drive it allright," said the youth.

1,000 Fans Line Up For Tickets

NEW YORK, July 10.—A line of nearly 1,000 fight fans was on hand today at Madison Square Garden when the ticket sale for the Jess Willard-Luis Forno match was resumed with indications that promoter Tex Rickard's prophecy of a record crowd would be fulfilled when the heavyweight show begins at Boyle's Thirty Acres Thursday night.

On the basis of the increasing demand for reservations during the past few days, Rickard predicted that the attendance would exceed the 10,000 figure set at the Dempsey-Carpentier bout two years ago.

More than half of the reserved seat section, accommodating about 20,000 has been sold with prospects of a sell-out by Thursday morning. On the afternoon of the fight more than 40,000 unreserved seats will go on sale at the arena. The "gate" at a scale of $1 to $15 is expected to exceed $500,000.

An Inexpensive Suite of Exceptional Interest

In this new Chamber Suite, "The Chatterton," we offer a particularly attractive example of genuine worth in moderately priced furniture. Berkey & Gay built it for us. Its simple grace of design, sturdiness of construction, and beauty of finish reflect the superiority for which this house is celebrated.

Through the contrast of beautifully figured mahogany panels with the dark-toned birch framework, "The Chatterton" has a color-interest that gives it unusual charm. It is delightfully livable furniture; in the purchase of one of these pieces or of the entire suite, you may be sure of lasting satisfaction. Featured during March at these low prices:

Death Calls Mrs. Phillip Gableman

Mrs. Margaret Eva Gableman, 75, mother of Mayor William E. Gableman, and one of the best known residents of the city, passed away at her home, 2014 Baird avenue, last night at 7:10, death being caused by heart disease and complications. Mrs. Gableman had been ill for some time, but had been bedfast but one day. She was able to be up in a chair Sunday, retiring at 9 o'clock Sunday night. Yesterday morning, however, she was unable to get up, and began to sink about noon. At 3 o'clock her condition became alarming, death following at 7:10.

Mrs. Gableman was the widow of the late Phillip Gableman, one of the prominent residents of Pike county, whose death occurred at Waverly, Mo., 6, 1910. In November, 1910, Mrs. Gableman came to Portsmouth, where she had since made her home with her son, J. W. Gableman. Mrs. Gableman was born in Chillicothe April 14, 1850. Her maiden name was Miss Margaret Eva Breinig. During a long married life, however, she resided in Pike county, where her husband was a leading figure in community life.

Surviving are one daughter and six sons, Mrs. D. E. Gardner, Jr., this city; Charles P., former postmaster of Waverly; George L., an employee of the State Bureau of Accounting, whose home is in Springfield; Mayor William N. Gableman of this city; J. Wesley, circulation manager of the Portsmouth Times; E. W. Washington, D. C., correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer; and Walter H. Gableman of the Play House. Two brothers and one sister-in-law also survive: Mrs. Margaret Breinig, Chillicothe; George Breinig, Columbus, and J. P. Breinig of Chillicothe. Mrs. Gableman was a member of the M. E. Church of Waverly, and led an exemplary Christian life. During her long years of residence in Waverly, she made hosts of friends, attracted by her high qualities of Christian virtue which made up her character. Joining these are hosts of friends in Portsmouth who grieve to hear of her death.

The funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday evening. The remains will be taken to Waverly on Thursday, with services at the home of Charles P. Gableman, and interment in the Waverly Cemetery.

Charles P. Gableman arrived last night and George L. arrived today. The other children were at their mother's bedside when the end came.

Dr. Cook, Explorer, And Others Indicted In Bogus Stock Deals

CLEVELAND, O., July 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Twenty-six oil promoters, including Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former arctic explorer, were indicted by the federal grand jury here today on charges of using the mails to defraud and conspiracy to make fraudulent use of mails.

The indictments were returned to Federal Judge Paul J. Jones after U. S. District Attorney A. E. Bernstein and scores of witnesses had presented evidence to the grand jury in the government's drive to stem the flood of bogus oil stocks throughout the country. Cook and twenty-three of his associates are alleged to have defrauded Ohioans through the sale of the stock of the Petroleum Producers' Association, a Fort Worth, Texas, oil promotion enterprise of which Cook was president and sole trustee.

Trial of the promoters, both in Cleveland and Fort Worth, was predicted by Federal authorities in view of the fact that separate offenses are charged in the indictments returned in the two cities. In Fort Worth, Cook and his associated promoters were charged with mailing alleged fraudulent stock offers in the post office there. The new indictments involve delivery of the offers in the Cleveland district of the federal court of the northern district of Ohio.

Defendants named as associates and employees of Cook are: Thomas O. Turner, Leslie A. McKeeber, Fred K. Smith, Beecher S. Henninger, O. L. Ray, Arthur Ekman, W. P. Welby, R. T. Maxwell, George A. Demontrond, Seymour E. J. Cox, W. L. Bradish, C. H. Mehuron, E. J. Bowen, Samuel L. Hess, C. W. Fleet, and Henry O. Stephenson, of Fort Worth. Others are: Henry W. Bloom, H. G. Cooper, Ambrose Leclair, J. S. Reicks, George Harvey Currier, H. E. Robinson and J. E. Burmeister.

According to District Attorney Bernstein, audit of the books of the Petroleum Producers' Association by a government accountant, showed that the company took in from stock sales nearly $2,000,000 in a little more than six months. Payment of fraudulent dividends is one allegation against Cook. After advertising dividends of two per cent monthly, it is charged, the company paid two dividends of that size six weeks apart, with money obtained from stock sales.

Joseph H. Crites, former painter and railroad brakeman of East Liverpool, Ohio, and John T. Hines, former sheriff of Tarrant county, Texas, were indicted for the fraudulent sale of stock in the Oter Production Company and the Mid-American Oil and Refining Company to Ohio residents. According to Federal investigators, persons living in and near East Liverpool, were swindled out of approximately $170,000.

All but one of the men named in the indictment are said to be under bond in Fort Worth on indictments returned there last April.

Persons of comparatively very small means were the principal victims, according to government investigators, who described Cook's campaign as chiefly a "merger" concept. His method, they claim, was to obtain lists of stockholders in other companies either defunct or dying and to offer these stockholders petroleum production association stock in exchange for their worthless holdings, the offer being conditioned upon additional cash purchase of association stock.

Letters pictured Cook's stock as offering an exceptionally attractive investment, certain to return handsomely. Purchasers were urged to borrow money for investment, if they could not spare it from savings accounts or earnings, it was alleged.

In some cases, the federal agents claim to have found Cook said his stock outright without any exchange. Prices paid for it by various buyers, under the "merger" and direct sale schemes are said to have ranged from 20 cents to $2 a share.

Cook gained national prominence in 1909 when he returned from the Arctic with the claim that he had discovered the North Pole.

Denies Disaffection In Klan Ranks

TULSA, OKLA., July 10.—(By the Associated Press)—William Joseph Simmons, founder and emperor of the present Ku Klux Klan, in an address at Convention Hall last night, denied reports of disaffection in the ranks of the order and declared "it is nobody's business what kind of a costume is worn by the Ku Klux Klan."

"The folks that are kicking up the greatest fuss about the mask do not care about the face covering," he declared.

"They want to know who is behind it so they can boycott them. But they will find out soon enough. Then maybe they won't be so anxious to know. I have no apologies to make for that mask. It's going to stay right where it is."

Mrs. Standard

dam near the school has proved an incentive for girl inmates to run away.

As an evidence of her management she quoted figures to show that, away from the school have been, greatly since she became chief matron.

In May, 1922, when she was appointed head of the institution, there were fifteen runaways, she said. She said decreases were noted in the following months and that in April last the number of girls who walked away totalled three.

During the period from May 1, 1922, to May 1, 1923, Mrs. Standard testified that 300 girls had been received at the institution; that 100 of those received were parole violators, and that 330 girls had been paroled. She said that during this period only 24 girls returned to the school who had been paroled.

When questioned about the so-called "dungeon" at the school, Mrs. Standard said that she came to the school in May, 1922, and that the first she knew of it was in August. She said that the wing of the so-called "dungeon" was not boarded up until she was matron and that "it had been done since" she left.

"The former chief matron said that only girls who were incorrigible were placed in the so-called 'dungeon'." She also told of calling the sheriff of Delaware county to the school to assist in quieting incorrigible inmates.

Mrs. Standard related methods introduced by her when she assumed charge of the institution telling in detail of the honor system which was put in practice whereby girls were given marks for good conduct and behavior and permitted privileges when their records were good. She said that three weeks after she had put the honor system in use doors of the "Honor Cottage" had been unlocked.

She testified she had abolished corporal punishment shortly after she took charge in May, 1922, and that its abolition had been approved by former Director Voltaire MacAyeal. The first "Honor Cottage" she said was established in June, 1922.

Under her plan Mrs. Standard declared that girls were classed according to their conduct and that those girls who were "trouble-makers" had been put in one cottage where they could not come in contact with new girls who had been received at the institution.

Schools teaching domestic arts were established with college girls in charge, she said.

The negro inmates were separated, she said, and violators of the honor system were kept in separate cottages, she testified.

Trial Is Postponed

William Hill, charged with stealing a coat valued at $25 and auto tools from Carl Windel, Sixth street auto dealer, appeared in municipal court Tuesday afternoon for hearing. His trial was postponed until 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Undergoes Operation
Mrs. Jesse Dyer of Waller street, underwent an operation at Hempstead hospital this morning. She is recovering nicely.

Banks Close

H. Stanton, president of the Stanton Trust and Savings Bank of this city, which failed to open for business yesterday, denies there is any connection between closing the institution and the handling of the Dempsey-Gibbons championship fight at Shelby, Mo., July 1, L. Q. Stanton, state superintendent of the banks, who is here to investigate the bank's affairs, supported the statement.

Stanton was one of the prominent Great Falls men who assisted in raising the second $100,000 that was paid Dempsey.

"Any money raised in Great Falls for Shelby for the Dempsey payment was not drawn from the resources of the Stanton bank or from my personal funds," Stanton said in a statement.

"The bank's financial status at this time," Stanton said, is due to conditions prevailing following the World War, together with a lack of confidence on the part of depositors after the failure of two other banks here. His institution, he asserted, is solvent.

The bank is capitalized at $250,000, and has deposits of $90,000.

Endicott Held To The Grand Jury

George Endicott, aged 29, who Monday ran down John A. Endicott is charged with manslaughter. He is an N. & W. machinist helper and lives at Galla avenue and Vine street, New Boston.

Endicott's bond was fixed at $1,000 and he is arranging to give it. He was represented by Attorney B. F. Kimble.

Hit By Auto; Painfully Injured

Frank Matthews, United States laundry driver, of 518 Seventh street, was knocked down and badly bruised by an independent taxi cab driven by John Crosby, Tuesday about noon.

Matthews had been at the N. & W. ticket office on business and was on his way back to the laundry, across the street, when the accident happened. He says he looked up and down the street before stepping off the curb and did not see any moving automobiles. When he passed behind a parked machine, he ran directly into Crosby's car, which was going west on Fourth street, and was knocked down. A gash was cut in his head and his elbow was badly bruised. The wound in his head bled freely but was not deep enough to require stitches.

Crosby was going slowly on account of the heavy traffic and says that just as he dodged around a wagon, Matthews stepped in front of him. He applied the brakes and stopped almost instantly which probably kept Matthews from being killed. Matthews was carried to the laundry and Dr. A. D. Hunt was called. He dressed the wounds temporarily until the patient could be taken to his office.

This is the third man in the last few days that has been unable to work at the laundry on account of accidents. They believe there must be a jinx with them.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets

This Fall when all the fashionable world is seeking slenderness, and still more slenderness, Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets are more than ever a necessity to women of medium or stout build.

The exclusive Rengo Belt feature is the greatest advance ever made in a reducing corset. It reduces the appearance of excess flesh or heaviness and moulds the figure to the lines of prevailing fashion.

They will outwear several pairs of ordinary reducing corsets. This particularly appeals to the stout women who has been accustomed to replacing stretched or broken corsets several times in a single season.

With a Rengo Belt Reducing Corset for the foundation, you may be certain you will look your best in your new garment. No matter what type of figure you have, there's a Rengo Belt model to fit your particular need.

They will hold their shape through long periods of wear because they are made for the service stout women require, having unusual features of tailoring which insure retention of original shapeliness and fine extra strength materials.

You may be very stout and your figure may be "all curves," but you can have long graceful lines, and the poise of a princess. All you need to do is to give your figure the proper support and guidance by wearing a Rengo Belt Reducing Corset.

Graduate Corsetiere constantly in attendance to advise and fit.

WALTHERS AND DANDO WINNERS IN MAIN BOUTS LAST NIGHT

White And Brooks Of This City Lost To Dayton Boys

The Results
Shifty Dando wins over Andy Parker of Dayton.
Al Walther, Canton, wins over Joe Delaney of Dayton.
Young Croft, Dayton, gets decision over Ruth White.
Harry Brooks and Wallie Foster fight a draw.

Fight fans of this town who attended the all-star boxing show in the Winter Garden last night enjoyed a real fight feast as the night was unquestionably one of the best ever staged in the city.

There was action every minute of the time and each bout was a classic one. True the main go dragged at times, but Delaney and Walther put up a sterling bout and both were in good shape at the finish.

As was expected Shifty Dando of this city and Andy Parker of Dayton put up the real fight fireworks. Their bout was a rattling good one.

Parker getting a narrow margin. Croft winning by a narrow margin. It was a real bang bang set with boys trying at all the way.

Then came the main go between Joe Delaney of Dayton and Al Walther of Canton. They did a lot of clinching and the fans did not warm up to their work very much.

However both boys delivered some wicked punches and there was little to choose between them. Walther's experience told in the end as he made Delaney miss a lot of his punches.

It was a good fight, but was not nearly as interesting as the Parker-Dando bout. This was a real one and had the fans yelling throughout the ten rounds. Dando started slowly.

but, oh boy, after he got to going! Dando-Parker by Rounds.

Third round—Dando made the start with a right to the jaw and followed it up with rapid fire of lefts and rights to the face and body as Parker drew him into a clinch. Parker landed left on the face and clinched. Parker pushed a right in Shifty's face. Coming into clinch they mixed it fast and furious. Parker hit in the breaks and was cautioned by Referee Rudity. Dando's round.

Fourth round—Parker started with a light left to the face and Dando returned the attack with a right directed at the jaw, but stopping just below the right ear. Coming out of the clinch Dando landed a left on the stomach and Parker pushed a right in Shifty's face. Coming into clinch they mixed it fast and furious. Parker hit in the breaks and was cautioned by Referee Rudity. Dando's round.

Sixth round—Dando again started off the fireworks with a right and left to the face and followed it up with a right to the body. Parker landed a fast clip around the ribs. Parker then seemed to get his breath and came in with a right on the jaw and followed with a left to the nose. They clinched. In the get away Parker landed left and right to the body and Dando missed a right to the jaw. Parker again scored with a right on the ear as the bell rang. Round even.

Seventh round—Dando led off with a straight left and followed with a right to the chin and then there was that rapid fire of the speed demon that cannot be followed punch by punch. It was the same sort of onslaught that crushed the pride of Paint Creek in the second round a few weeks ago. Parker was clever enough to stay through it and at the end seemed in good shape for the bombardment that he had received. Dando's round.

Eighth round—Dando started the hostilities with a left lead to the chin and Parker came back with a right to the body. Dando landed a right on the point of the jaw and a left and right to the body. Parker rapped Dando on the mouth and received a right under the eye in return and they dropped into clinch. Parker scored a left and right on the stomach and Dando came back with a pair of those straight lefts to the face.

Then they mixed it close and in the get-away Dando scored a good crack on the ear. Dando's round.

Ninth round—This was the round of fast stuff. Dando directed a left for the chin but missed and they clinched. When going again Dando drove a left to the body with a right to the face and followed by a left to the mouth. Parker landed on the stomach with a right and they clinched. Dando started again with a right to the jaw and then a left to the face and the slow up came fast for words and the slow up came when Dando sent Parker sprawling through the ropes with a terrific right to the jaw. Coming back Dando landed a left and right at close range to the face and Parker clung on for the remaining seconds of the round. Parker seemed dazed and weak on the way to his corner. Dando's round.

Tenth round—Dando rushed forth seeming with the determination of finishing it in this round and the round was one continuous left and right to Parker's face and then a right to the body and the same thing over. Parker landed a few light ones in this round, but they had lost their sting. Dando hit him at will but the Dayton boy was too wise and clung on until the bell rang and the fight was over.

Puzzling Plays
By Bill Evans

THE PLAY
There were runners on first and third when a batter hit a low liner back at the pitcher.

The pitcher was off his stride and had no chance to make a play on the ball. It struck directly in front of the pitching rubber, and on the first snappy bound, hit the rubber.

Like a flash it bounded over the foul line between home and third. Had it continued on its way it would have been good for at least a double. The runner on third scored, the runner on first went to third, and the batsman reached second before the ball was gotten back into the infield.

What about such a play?
THE INTERPRETATION
The ball was foul. The runners should have been sent back to their respective bases and the latter made to hit over again.

The definition of a fair hit ball says it must settle between home and first or home and third, or as in fair territory when bounding to the outfield past first or third.

In this case the ball hit the pitcher's box and then crossed the foul line between third and home and finally settling in foul territory thereby making it a foul.

I CAN'T DO IT ALL
Auto drivers in goodly numbers have told me "that's great stuff in your ads. about the paving at Franklin Furnace" and to keep it up. I suggested they get together and organize, join the Auto Club and then if our commissioners won't give them relief to take it up with the State Highway Department and find out WHY. When I order shoes from a factory whose output is 5000 pairs daily and they can't deliver 100 pairs to me on time there's a reason and if they are very late with delivery I cancel the order. Why? Because some one is being favored. I wonder if that's the case of this paving job. If it is I'm going to continue to sell those patent, tan and black calf oxfords at five-fifty and six as long as I have a pair.

First Christian	2	0	1000
Scotville M. E.	2	0	1000
Second Presbyterian	2	2	500
Bigelow	2	4	333
Mainly	1	2	333

Through a combination of good hitting and base running, coupled with some splendid box work by their new hurler, Schwamberger, the Second Presbyterians overwhelmed Bigelow last evening at the Seventeenth Street grounds by the score of 5 to 2. From the point of view of the spectators, it was one of the most interesting battles of the season, as there was far more pep and enthusiasm shown than in any of the preceding contests.

Notable among the feats performed was a homer by young Jack Grimm while Schwamberger wound up a game in which he allowed but half a dozen hits and struck out eight men by fanning the last three men to face him, besides permitting one to reach first in the preceding round.

Although started late, owing to the tardy arrival of several of the players, the game was rushed through in just one hour and there was something of interest for the fans every minute.

Scotville and Mainly will play this evening. On Wednesday evening, First Christian and Bigelow will play off a postponed game. The same two teams will have a regular scheduled game for Thursday evening while Scotville and the Second Presbyterians will meet Friday. On Wednesday of next week the Second Presbyterians and First Christians will pull off a postponed game.

Sisler Is Tipped
As Brown Leader

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Reports were current today that Lee Fold, manager of the St. Louis Americans, would not be with the team next year, when his contract expires.

George Sisler, star first baseman of the Browns, who has been out of the lineup on account of eye trouble, is mentioned in the reports as Fold's probable successor. Phil Kall, president of the Browns, denied the reports, which asserted that Fold was dissatisfied with the way Fold was handling the team.

FIRPO AND WILLARD RESTING

NEW YORK, July 10.—Nearing the finish of their training program, Luis Angel Firpo and Jess Willard, champions of the prize ring, who meet at Borgia's Thirty Acres next Thursday night to determine a challenger for Jack Dempsey's crown, planner only light exercises today.

Firpo, at Long Branch, N. J., was slated for the harder workout of the two. Jimmy DeForest, ring mentor of the South American, expected to have Firpo box his sparring partner, Bill Tate and Jack McAuliffe, besides a private workout and a few miles on the road.

Willard, pronounced by Jack Skelly, his veteran handler, to be in top shape, will have just enough exercise to keep him on edge. The big fellow, scaling around 240 pounds, appears fit.

Next Show Open Air Show

While Monday night's boxing show was not a success financially, it certainly was from every other standpoint. The attendance was not up to the usual standard and this was attributed to the fact that the fans are finding the weather too hot to witness indoor boxing. The next show will be staged open-air.

Promoter Will Harris has proved conclusively that he surely knows his business when it comes to making matches. He said today that he would rather put on a good show and take a loss than to stage a poor one and make money, and has this consolation to fall back upon. Every bout went the limit and no boxer on the bill had a walkaway at any time. It was a great night for the boxing fans.

TY COBB THE REAL B. B. SUPERMAN

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 10.—(United Press)—Ty Cobb, more or less successful trainer of a fiery bunch of real Bengal Tigers out in Detroit, probably will be breaking baseball records when all the sport writers are in the old men's home.

Cobb came up to Michigan from the Georgia pines eighteen years ago. Since that time he has corralled the following records:
Most home runs, 1,741.
Most games played in the American League, 2,304.

Most years played in the league, 18.
Greatest number of hits, 3,206.
Greatest American League number in total bases, 4,506.
Highest lifetime American League batting average, around .375.

FEATURES OF YESTERDAY'S GAMES

NEW YORK, July 10.—A reported serious talk by Manager McGraw to his tottering Giants on Sunday after the second defeat at the hands of Cincinnati, bore the fruit of victory yesterday.

Though the pitching efforts of Neft were in vain and the defense was ragged in spots, the New Yorkers answered the words of their leader individually when they came to bat against Cincinnati. Kelly and Frisch said it with home runs and the team as a whole drove in enough runs to bury the westerners, 13 to 1.

With only the two Chicago teams to uphold the part of the western clubs in the victory column, the eastern teams in both the American and National leagues won the majority of victories in the inter-sectional clashes.

The Yankees at St. Louis continued their victory romp, winning 9 to 3. Boston took the measure of the Cleveland Americans, 4 to 1, while Philadelphia trounced Detroit, 6 to 7.

The Chicago Nationals were victorious at Boston, 4 to 1, while the Chicago Americans pushed Washington further back in the second division by winning, 8 to 1.

Maccabees To Stage Boxing Show

Because of the hot weather and the boxing show the installation of officers of the Knights of Maccabees was postponed at the meeting last night and next Monday. To gratify the fight fans of the lodge it was announced that a five-round bout will be staged at the close of next week's session. John Holsinger and Carl Beck are the two main artists on the program and a real slug fest is promised by the Boxing Committee. A big turnout is expected.

Kinks-o' the Links

Player drives from the tee and believes that his ball has gone out of bounds. In order to save time he so considers it and drives another ball from the tee which pursued much the same course, with a possibility that it also went out of bounds. It was then discovered that neither ball was out of bounds and that the first ball enjoyed a much better lie than the second. What about it?

The player shall continue the first ball in play without suffering any penalty for having driven the second ball from the tee.

A and B are in matched play. Playing for the ninth tee, B tees up his ball and in making his downward swing the ball falls from the tee just before the club reaches it. B completed the swing, but failed to hit the ball. B claims that because of his failure to strike the ball he has the right to retee it without penalty.

B having played a stroke, has no right to retee the ball as it is in play. Player has a right to retee the ball only when it falls or is knocked from the tee in the act of addressing it.

Player discovers that his ball is within inches of being out of bounds. Because of its unusual lie, the player realizes that it will be much easier for him to play the ball if he assumes a stance that is entirely out of bounds. Has the player such a right or must he remain within bounds while swinging a club?

A player has a perfect right to stand out of bounds while playing a ball lying within bounds, if he believes such a stance will help his play.

In walking backward on the green a player accidentally knocked his ball out of position. Is there any penalty for such an act and, from where should the next shot be played?

The player suffers a stroke penalty moving the ball. The ball should not be placed as near as possible to its original position, instead, the next shot should be played from the spot to which it had been moved by the accidental happening.

In stroke competition of an 18-hole round, the putting green on a certain hole was mowed a considerable time after the event started and while still in progress. As a result the late starters putted on a newly cut green. Would the players who were forced to putt on the slow green have a right to protest?

The players who were forced to play prior to the cutting of the green would have a right to enter a protest if they so desired. The act of cutting the green would make the conditions different under which the hole is played. It would be sufficient grounds for having the round declared null and void.

Is Walter Hagen connected with any golf club as playing professional? What club was he with in Detroit? What is his home course, if he has any?

Hagen, as we understand it, is not connected with any club at present as golfing pro. He formerly was with the Oakland Hills Club at Detroit. He regards the Westchester-Biltmore Club of New York as his home course. Hagen feels that he is able to make more money out of tournament play and exhibitions than as a club golf pro.

"King Of Hoboes" O. K.'s Boxing Show

Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes," was a spectator at the boxing show last night and was impressed with the manner in which it was conducted and the way the boys fought. "It was a good clean show," said Jeff, "and I want to say that such an exhibition is a good thing for the boys and men of a town. There would be a lot less boys in reform schools if they would learn to fight with their fists instead of employing knives, razors and guns."

OHIO TOBACCO ACREAGE
COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10.—To-bacco acreage in Ohio increased 3 per cent on the basis of a study of 1919 farms. C. J. West, State-Federal Crop Statistician, announced today. In the Miami Valley, or cigar belt district, the increase was 7 per cent. In the hurley, or Southern Ohio district, 15 per cent, while in Belmont, Monroe and other Eastern Ohio Counties, the gain was only 2 per cent, Mr. West said.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 10.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, late last night defeated Alex Hart of Lorain, O., in the opinion of the majority of sports writers at the ringside. In an eight-round bout at the National League Baseball park, 30,000 fans attended.

Two Killed, Four Hurt In Train-Auto Crash

TOLEDO, OHIO, July 10.—George Hayes, 30, Battle Creek, Mich., and his daughter, Beatrice, a few months old, were killed instantly and four other persons injured when an automobile in which they were riding was demolished by a Michigan Central train at the Maplewood-avenue crossing in Sylvania, Ohio, yesterday.

The approach of the train was concealed by a dwelling and the train was not seen until within a few feet of the machine. Victor Whitehead, who drove it, declared.

The approach to the crossing is blind from all four angles and has been the subject of a campaign for guard gates on the part of Sylvania citizens. It was declared last night.

Posse In Pursuit Of Nude Maniac Who Is Murder Suspect

STUBENVILLE, OHIO, July 10.—Robert Tepovich, 48, prominent Western (W. Va.) citizen, who was attacked and beaten presumably by a "mad man" who has annoyed citizens in the vicinity of East Stubenville for several nights past, died at a local hospital at 6:25 o'clock this morning. Death was due to a fracture of the skull. He never regained consciousness from the time he was found lying along the East Stubenville road at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

A posse was reformed this morning and is searching the hills for miles around in an effort to capture the naked man who has been seen by a score or more persons and who talked to at least five of them when he met along lonely roads. On these occasions he carried a heavy club. Officers and a posse searched all day, but were unable to find the man who reported last seen near Colliers, W. Va., 8 miles from where Tepovich was found.

General Strike Threat
GLACE BAY, NOVA SCOTIA, July 10.—Miners in the Westville, Tisdard and Stellarton sections of District No. 26, of the United Mine Workers of America, voted last night for a 100 per cent strike in support of their demand for liberation of Dan Livingston, President, and James B. McLachlan, Secretary of the district organization. The two men were jailed on charges of circulating false information in regard to the strike of steel workers in Cape Breton.

THE GOLD SURPLUS

IT is possible to have too much of a good thing. The United States is just now experiencing this with its gold reserve. It has too much. Not more, perhaps, than it would like to have, but too much in proportion to what the rest of the world has.

The result of its excess is to throw the whole financial machinery out of gear.

This unhappy situation had its inception in the world war. The allies bought war munitions and food herein to the extent of their capacity. Gold had to be the basis of purchase so it was raked and scraped together and sent here veritably by the ton.

While commerce is reviving to a large extent, gold still has a tendency to keep flowing in, because our exports are larger than our imports.

Many plans have been suggested of removing vast bulks of the metal back to Europe, but so far none that seems feasible, or, at least, that appeals to the government.

This is unfortunate, for every financier considers our excess surplus a barrier to placing commerce upon a proper basis. It may force barter and exchange to a greater extent, but at the same time it is sure to cut down the volume of trade.

TAX AND SALE VALUES

THERE is food for thought in the circumstances surrounding the collapse of the effort to obtain options on land near Franklin Furnace for a factory concern, and the county taxing authorities should certainly have their ears to the ground and act according to information disclosed. For instance the option prices on the land in question disclosed that much of it was greatly undervalued for taxation purposes. We are told that one farm, for which the owner asked $40,000 or $50,000 is on the tax duplicate for $8000. There should be no such wide discrepancy in the sale value and the tax value of land, and the county authorities will be grossly negligent if they do not act to correct the error. It is an injustice to the rest of the taxpayers of the county that a forty or fifty thousand dollar piece of land should be only taxed on an eight thousand dollar valuation. Explanation is seen here for the tax burdens of these people who have returned their property at reasonable valuation.

Goldfield, once the metropolis of the Nevada mines, has been completely wiped out by fire. Boasting in its boom days a population of 25,000, when the conflagration started it didn't have as many hundreds of people in it as it had thousands of houses. A hundred years from now some archaeologist will come along and discovering it, hail to the world as a magnificent capital of an ancient people.

Constantly confronted by all this mess and muss of new and rebuilt structures, we sometimes think we will live ourself off for a year or so to a nice quiet place like Zanesville or Findlay where there hasn't been a new house erected in ten years.

Pears like nothing was ever done exactly right in this man's town. Notice that as preliminary to resurfacing streets they are straightening curbs and relaying them so the water will run down hill. Told 'em years ago you couldn't make water run up hill.

Thought we would never refer to it again, but when the mark goes down to 200,000 for a dollar, we have just got to say so. It is going to go lower than that too, because the German government is printing marks by the billions every week.

Canada is exporting an unusual number of beef cattle to Europe. And there are those foolish enough to think we can build up a tariff wall so high that foreign products can not come in, while our own will not cease to flow out.

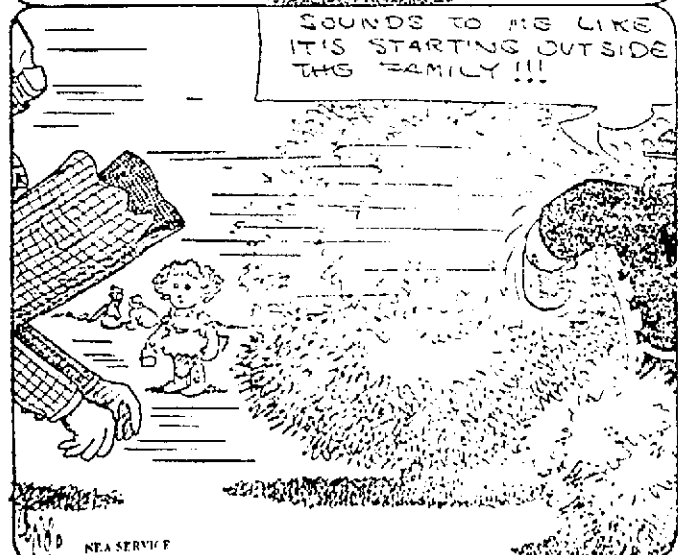

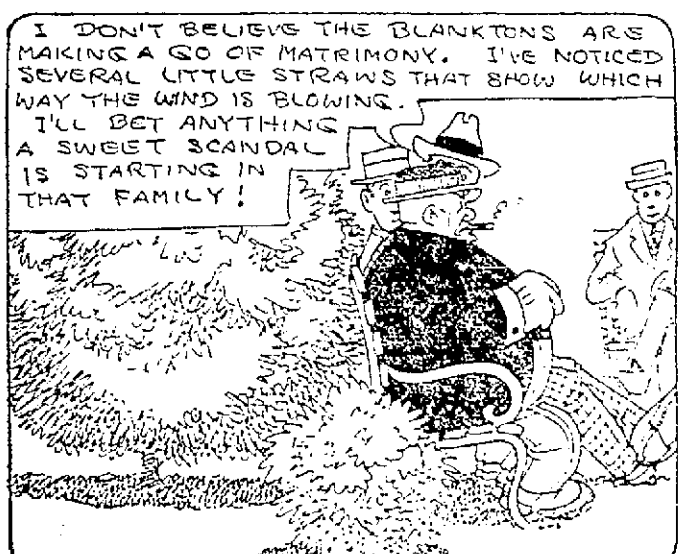

The farmer is considered foolish to ask the government to fix a minimum price for his grain, but the same mouth that laughs him to scorn for that will wildly shout for the state to fix a minimum wage scale. What's the difference?

Our observation is there is too much rain in spots that don't want it and too little in those that do.

Perhaps, when Warren Gamaliel returns from Alaska his backbone will be (temporarily) stiffened by the northern breezes and he will throw another unqualified spanner for the international court of justice.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Broadway of the East Side is Grand street. In many ways it has more bustle and dash than the Great White Way. The night street market with its flaring bawls, thick-jammed sidewalks and medley of voices remind the visitor of Cairo.

The people are mostly foreigners and they garb in the dazzling colors so dear to their hearts. There is an eager rush about the street booths and small shops. Stores remain open until midnight. Push-carts sell everything from millinery feathers to sliced watermelon.

"Hurry! Nitric silk shirts from the Avenue!" shouts a bearded old man. Another cries: "Silk socks for swell gents!" The din and perpetual hubbub are almost deafening. Children race in and out the traffic skillfully defying death.

Mothers sit in upstairs windows with sleeping babes until long after the street roar dies down. Then fire escapes are filled with lullaby bedtime and Grand Street sleeps the sleep of the exhausted. There is a merry dazle to the coffee shops and quick eateries.

In one group of Poles may be doing a mazurka. In another young East Siders are clogging away in the savdust and there is something volatile and spontaneous about the fun. Each Grand Street shop has its "outside man" who, if you admire something in the window, will skilfully up and invite you to see the treasures inside.

Near Grand Street is famous Division Street—a narrow thoroughfare—that is lined on either side with hat, cloak and gown shops. Each window has its wax figure draped with some imitation of Fifth Avenue's style. They handle the fashions for the seething East Side.

During the day many women from up-town come to Grand Street for bargains. Then there is Allen Street which for years has been the center of the Russian brass trade. Brass shops with gleaming deadends are everywhere. All of these streets are brilliantly lighted at night, for East Siders work hard during the day and only have time when dark comes for shopping.

In the heart of the financial district downtown on East Indian swam occupies an imposing suite of offices. His patrons are not the clerks and stenographers of the district for he charges $25 a visit. The money kings have their superstitions. Crystal gazing seems out of place among them, but the swain is always busy.

AMERICA
O country mine, O country mine!
For you I smile, for you I pine!
I give to you my love, my all,
I answer to my country's call:
In fields of flowers here I roam,
The place I always call my home:
America, you gave to me
The land of liberty, the free,
Where'er I roam, I'll long for you,
America, the great, the true!

O country mine, O country mine!
I watch the moon beams as they shine
Across the battle fields, once scarred
With soldiers' dead, their blood un-marr'd.
Be any thing untrue to you,
And I'll rue beneath the blue,
Their souls in white, one body unite
To shield, protect and claim the right.
How could we ever be untrue—
America, my land to you!

ADVICE

By Berton Braley

I've tried to tell you straight and true
Exactly what is wrong with you.
I've done my best to make you see
The faults of yours which trouble me.
I've sought to guide you as a friend
And show you how you might amend
Your way of life, and as it were,
Become a Noble Character!

BUT are you properly ended

With humbleness and gratitude,
For all the good advice you got?
Well, speaking frankly, you are not.
At various times, as I recall,
You've counseled me to "hire a ball,"
And even told me I could go
To hotter spots than Borneo.

Is such an attitude quite kind

To one who has your good in mind?
What's that? YOU have a moral plan
To make of ME a Better Man?
Confound your high and mighty airs,
You'd better mind your own affairs.
Where do you get that kind of stuff?
Be on your way—enough's enough!
